

King Decides Not To Be Candidate

(Townsmen Staff Report)

William F. King, a six-year veteran of the Andover School Committee, announced this week that he would not seek re-election when his term expires this March.

King cited increased obligations as a member of the staff at Northeastern University as his prime reasons for deciding not to throw his hat into the ring once again, but said he stands ready to assist the School Committee in the future "in whatever way that I can on an informal basis."

In a letter to Dr. Kenneth R. Seifert, superintendent of schools, King indicated that his appointment as director of Lincoln College had changed his workload at Northeastern considerably, and that two recently inaugurated programs are making additional demands on his time.

He said that he had nevertheless been prepared to make the effort to run for a third term, until he also received notification that the Engineers Council for Professional Development had scheduled an accreditation visit during what is normally the most active period of the election campaign.

This would have meant a "triple-header" of activity, combining the campaign with the present efforts on budget development, he went on, and added, "I don't see how it would be possible to fulfill all of these obligations properly."

King expressed his appreciation to the faculty and administration of the Andover School System for the excellent cooperation they had shown during his years on the committee.

"They have carried us through unprecedented periods of change in both student attitudes and curriculum development. Their continued concern for the welfare of the students of Andover will be the cornerstone upon which the future is built.

William F. King

"We are also fortunate to have a devoted staff of secretaries, custodians, bus drivers and food service personnel. The consistent positive attitudes of the many supportive personnel in the system has helped make my efforts more rewarding.

"It has been a pleasure to work with the various members of the committee and others who have concerned themselves with the vital work of educating our children," he went on. "I sincerely regret the necessity for terminating this association formally at the end of my current term, but I feel that the honor and responsibility which has been twice given to me by the voters of Andover requires a commitment which I will be unable to make in the several months to come."

Selectmen Fence With An Editorial

While the Board of Selectmen will meet tomorrow afternoon to determine the remaining articles it will insert in the Warrant for the March Town Meeting, they got a head start Monday night by adding a few suggested items and mixing a few others.

The Selectmen also indicated their willingness to continue to attend a regional "Legislative Caucus" - a monthly gathering of Greater Lawrence city and town officials with state legislators - and took issue with last week's Townsman editorial criticizing some of the members for "building fences" between Andover and neighboring towns.

Among the articles the Board agreed to place on the Warrant are those relating to flood plain zoning; rezoning of the Shawsheen Plaza area from industrial-general to shopping center use; banning of open burning year-round (including times now allowed by the State); new school zone signs; banning of drinking in public places; improvements at the Ponds Pond recreation area; resurfacing of tennis courts at West Jr. High; storm drain projects, water system improvements; rebuilding of High Plain Road and closing down of the Ballardvale treatment plant.

The Board decided against an article which would extend drinking hours two hours on Sundays (from 1 to 2 a.m. and from 11 a.m. till noon).

Chairman Roger Collins led the counterattack on the Townsman by defending two colleagues on the matter of regional participation.

"They are not trying to put up fences," he said. "It was a lack

A Banner Building Year

By Robert E. Finneran

Andover has just completed a record building year, according to year end statistics compiled by Building Inspector Arthur Peatman.

A total of $12,825,444 in construction was authorized during the 12 month period, with major areas, other than new dwellings being in the new industrial and commercial aspects, as well as in the public school renovation project.

The 1973 figures surpassed by a wide margin the 1972 totals, a banner building year, when $7,900,432 was authorized.

Total number of permits of all types issued during the year was 659 compared to 614 a year ago.

Fees collected also reached a new record figure of $37,473 turned into the town treasury, putting the building inspection department within the self-sustaining category.

In the area of new dwellings, 163 permits were issued in 1973 for a total estimated cost of $4,855,280. A year ago there were 205 permits issued for $5,612,000.

A major permit issued during the year, having impact on the town's tax roles in the year ahead, was the one issued for the IGA warehouse in Lowell Junction. The new wholesale food distributing plant represented $2,500,000 of the overall total. The plant is now under construction, with construction and installation of utility lines having begun as a town-company project this past week.

Also adding to the increased annual totals was the major renovation work done at the Shawsheen and Doherty schools during the spring and summer months.

While there were other permits issued during the year for new construction or additions and alterations for municipal buildings, the major renovation accounted for most of the $2,279,550 recorded.

A year ago, there was $274,755 in municipal construction work.

A new professional office building under construction at Haverhill and High Streets was another major factor in the annual totals.

The estimated cost of this building is $993,193. When completed it will house professional offices and facilities for several Andover and North Andover doctors.

An increased number of apartment buildings at Colonial Drive, off South Main Street, accounted for the other major increase during the year.

There were a total of seven new apartment buildings authorized during the year for an estimated cost of $788,000. Most of the work is for the Colonial Drive area.

Additions and alterations to existing apartments also showed a considerable rise this past year with 11 permits being issued for a total of $170,600.

An increase in popularity of back yard swimming pools is also reflected in the year-end report. There were 71 permits issued in 1974 for pools, at an estimated cost of $148,591, as compared to 46 permits and $100,965 in 1973.

There was additional activity in the area of additions and alterations to dwellings this past year, with 267 permits issued for $625,342, as compared to 1973 figures of 234 and $471,662.

Business permits for additions and alterations dropped sharply, with 23 permits for $350,925 in 1974 compared to 40 and $849,950 the previous year.

Other figures for 1974 include: Industrial alterations, seven permits for $69,200 and miscellaneous permits such as signs, razing, etc., and 83 permits for $44,763.

Anti-Smoking Campaign Directed By Students

(Townsman Staff Report)

Last fall the Andover School Committee charged its Student Advisory Council to come up with an aggressive anti-smoking program as an alternative to a ban on smoking in the schools altogether.

That the youths have not taken their task lightly is a gross understatement.

Not only do they hope to quell smoking among school children, but their "Project Breath," a week-long effort which begins today, is aimed at getting the whole town to go cold turkey.

High schoolers Mark Hamilton and Tim Driscoll are co-chairmen of the campaign, largely assisted in their efforts by volunteer Dr. Rudolph Muto of Andover, a surgeon and avid anti-smoker; School Nurse Miss Ruth Wescott; and a busy committee of youths.

The campaign begins with a

'Night School' Classes Begin

There has been a change in life style this week.

Many working people and school children have been reporting for their early morning assignments in the dark, as Daylight Saving Time began last Sunday due to the energy crisis.

Of most concern as the night time was lengthened, was the effect it would have on school children, who now must travel to school or walk to school bus stops in the dark.

In Andover and North Andover, there were few complaints in the early part of the week as school and safety officials assessed the situation.

As of Wednesday there had been no moves to change the school day, opening classes later in the morning to provide daylight for travelling to classes.

And, it appeared unlikely that there would be any changes.

Both Superintendent of Schools Dr. Kenneth R. Seifert and Peter V. Garofoli, were continuing their checking with police officials on the matter and making every effort to provide safety measures for the youngsters most affected.

Both school administrators seemed concerned more for the youngsters in the elementary grades, whose school hours are most affected by the darkness.

As for those students at the secondary level, most are familiar sufficiently with safety regulations and are accustomed to being out at night at school events and other functions to be sufficiently cautious.

Both Seifert and Garofoli had received calls from parents pointing out particular danger areas in the towns and these were passed on to safety officials for attention.

In North Andover some street lighting inadequacies have been passed on to the selectmen for attention.

Lack of sidewalks in some areas for both towns have also been passed on to both safety and public works officials for consideration, not just due to the current situation but with regard to long range planning and establishing priorities for such work.

A decision to alter the school day seems unlikely at this point in the school year.

There are several considerations which must be made, not the least being the effect on working parents, whose schedules are guided by the current school day schedule.

School bus drivers also must be considered, since in most cases their school contracts are based on the service being a second job.

As the situation is assessed in both towns, Seifert and Garofoli have asked parents to be extra cautious during this period to see that the youngsters are getting to school bus stops or to school in patrols or walking safely.

The early morning darkness will be abating as the weeks go by, most all youngsters going to classes in more daylight as February approaches, thus the severity of the problem is expected to abate somewhat.

NEW MODE. Among some of the things that are being added to books and lunches for going to school these days are flashlights. Bill and Mike Clancy are ready for the early morning darkness with their flashlight as they prepare to meet the pre-dawn darkness on their way to classes.

Is your 15-21 year old unwilling or unable to cope with school?

Every person who goes to school is different. But conventional schools aren't equipped to deal with all these differences successfully. As a result, it isn't surprising that many either leave school, bewildered and angry, or continue but never realize their potential.

When a bright young person finds that learning does not come easily, or that the process is intolerable, it may be because of the school environment. Or the student himself may be troubled. But in either case, there should be an alternative.

There is. The Center for Alternative Education is an accredited therapeutic, co-educational school staffed by professionals. It is an environment where caring for the individual's needs, and his need for an education, go hand in hand. It helps break down barriers to learning by getting the student in touch with himself and reality. Also, the Center provides careful guidance to help him realize his goals.

CAE is a non-threatening way back for high school dropouts and graduates, and college dropouts without direction. For those potentially good students, ages 15 to 21, it is a real alternative.

Make this year different.

Mixed Reception To Chamber Plan

A TOWNSMAN
Staff Report

North Andover officials enthusiastically endorsed a proposal by the Greater Lawrence Chamber of Commerce which would create an industrial development agency under chamber direction, but Andover officials have opposed the proposal.

In North Andover, the selectmen and members of the industrial development commission, meeting with Chamber officials voted to insert the $1,650 town contribution in the annual town budget and support the item.

In Andover, meanwhile, the members of the Industrial Development Commission, after hearing the Chamber presentation, voted not to increase their budget by the $2,550 required by a five to three vote. The commission deferred the matter to the selectmen for further consideration.

At the North Andover meeting, President William Banton of the Chamber, along with James Ellis, executive vice president and Paul Gilboard of the Chamber presented the plan which would provide a full time executive in the Chamber's industrial development office and a staff.

The Chamber officials noted that their organization would be picking up $15,000 of the overall projected cost, the remaining funds being shared by Lawrence, Andover, Methuen and North Andover.

Chairman Edward W. Phelan of the North Andover Industrial Commission said he felt the proposal a good one and noted the efforts of the local commission in aiding industrial clients.

He and the selectmen agreed that Chamber involvement would lead to a co-ordinated effort to the benefit of the town and the area.

The two boards agreed to carry the item in the budget to be presented to town meeting with their endorsement.

In response to a question from Selectman John Kirk as to what would happen if one community did not participate, President Banton said the Chamber feels this matter important enough to see the project through in some manner.

In Andover, Banton, Ellis and Gilboard were joined by Andover Chamber President Gerry O'Donoghue in the presentation of similar facts concerning the new Chamber activity which would require an expenditure of $2,550 for the town.

Chairman Anthony DiDio of the Andover commission said that after evaluation of the information, the board voted five to three not to join in the effort.

He said the Chamber was welcome to return to the commission at a later date with additional information on the matter.

DiDio said it was the majority view of the Andover group that the Chamber office would be aimed at filling industrial space available in communities.

In Andover, however, there is considerable land and it is the experience that industrial concerns interested in locating on new property keep their presentation low key and deal principally with land owners.

He said the commission has data and information available and that the Andover commission is a very active one.

Main objection of the Andover group was that the benefits to be derived did not warrant the expenditure route, DiDio said.

The Andover chairman emphasized that the spirit of co-operation between communities still exists, as it has in the past and particularly since the signing of an agreement between commissions of the four communities in 1971.

Budgeting A Co-operative Venture

By Linda S. Corbett

"It's not a question of the administration looking for pie in the sky and the School Committee knocking us down," Superintendent Kenneth R. Seifert said this week, of the school budget process now underway. "It's really a cooperative thing."

Seifert said that the public budget hearings -- of which there will be another next Tuesday night at 7:30 at the high school -- have given some people the idea that it's the bad guys versus the good guys -- with the administration going wild on requests, while the School Committee has to keep chopping away so as not to increase the school portion of the tax rate this year.

In reality, Seifert said, they have been working together, to try to come to a compromise between "the infinite number of needs, and only a limited amount of dollars."

Both the administration and the School Committee have been working within pre-established ranges, Seifert went on. The School Committee has been working from $8,242,000, which would mean no tax increase, up to the $8,750,000 the Committee gave the administration as a starting point from which to work down.

The $8,242,000 figure, which was suggested by Committeeman William Lane, is higher than last year's budget, but takes into account increased revenue, from state aid, plus an increase in property valuation.

Meanwhile, Seifert said the administration started with $8,450,000 -- a figure he said they felt represented a tightening of the belt, yet one with which the administration could live with no serious curtailing of services.

He said they felt that figure would provide an increase in salaries, fulfill some of the goals of the school system, and provide funds to cope with increased fuel costs, while increasing the tax rate by about 90 cents.

But, he said, he thought it was "the kind of level that the Town would be willing to accept."

"We're not going to go backward and I don't think the people of the town want us to," he said.

Seifert said the administration then worked upward from that $8.4 million figure to $9,081,000 -- the amount first sent to the town -- in order to include various options they felt the public should know about and discuss. Among those options were portable classrooms, a security system, a preventative maintenance program and the like.

(The $80,000 for portable seconddary classrooms was among the $120,000 cut from the preliminary budget at last Wednesday's School Committee hearing. Other cuts included $7,900 for audio visual equipment, and $8,000 from the transportation account.)

Also in the area of options, Seifert gave the example of a fifth grade math class, where most of the youngsters are being taken care of in the basic course. But then there are the more advanced youngsters who need more challenging materials, and those who are behind, who need remedial materials. These are the sort of options that were included, he said.

These options will also come more dramatically into the public eye at next Tuesday's meeting, when the results of program assessments, which include all students at all levels, will be presented to the School Committee.

"I think it would have been improper for the Committee to have completed its budget before hearing the results," Seifert said. The budget was originally to have been completed by Jan. 15, and while the biggest cuts to date are expected at that meeting, the Finance Committee has given them three week's grace for their final figures.

"Of course the School Committee has their responsibility to set the level of the budget at whatever they say is right," Seifert concluded. "We can only advise that certain actions have certain dangers."

Anything below the $8,450,000 figure, Seifert said, would "create some problems." "That only provides for a minimal level of services, to keep the organization moving along at a reasonable rate."

If the School Committee were to cut deeper -- down to a no tax increase budget -- Seifert said it would probably require reduction in personnel, and curtailment of a few programs, while they should instead be opening up more individualized instruction at all levels.

The administration "is not a bunch of financial liberals," he went on, and added that the budget increase had been decreasing every year in his five years in Andover -- from 23 per cent in 1969 before he came, to five per cent last year. Meanwhile, he said, IMS, SCIS, and more personalized individualized programs have come into play.

The person or board would also act on hardship petitions, for waiver of the requirement that thermostats be lowered six degrees -- in the case of certain sick or elderly people, for example.

Other responsibilities would include assisting homes which ran out of oil by attempting to obtain voluntary deliveries from suppliers in the area.

In other energy-related action, the Selectmen gave unanimous approval to a petition from the New England Power Company to construct electrical high power lines over across Interstate 93 near the Gillette plant.

The new lines, which will run between Tewksbury and Saugus on an existing right of way, and next to two other lines, are necessary, according to a spokesman, if the company is going to continue to provide sufficient electrical power to Northeast Massachusetts beyond 1976.

Clothing Bright A Safer Sight

School and safety officials advise parents to have their children dress in bright clothing as a safety measure during the period of early morning darkness.

The youngsters adorned in brighter clothing thus are more visible and provide an additional safety factor as they trek to school in the early morning hours.

Some began the practice Monday morning as white and other lighter colors became apparent. One youngster, upon arriving at a local school complained that she could not wear her new winter jacket due to the advisability of brighter clothing. In a few more weeks, with the sun appearing earlier, she may get her wish.

Girls' Yoga

A Yoga class for beginning and intermediate girls is being offered by the Andover YMCA as a Winter Term 10 week course which is already under way. Open to girls in junior high school or high school the program includes 10 successive Thursday classes 7-8 p.m. at the Andover YMCA gym. The program is open to girls from both Andover and North Andover, but interested individuals must register at the Andover YMCA office.

December Building Shows Drop

December building totals were low, with only $171,885 in construction authorized by Building Inspector Arthur Peatman.

Of the permits, $156,000 was for new dwellings.

Fees collected during the month and turned over to the town treasurer totalled $504.

New dwellings: Kenneth H. Scribner, Greenwood Road, $18,000 and Pettingill Road, $18,000; Robert J. Flaherty, Jr., 14 Snowberry Road, $30,000; Forest Glen Corp., 23 Bradley Road, $25,000; Atlas Builders, 12 Osgood St., $35,000, 11 Osgood St., $30,000.

Additions and alterations: Andover School of Business, reversing new front doors, $350; Tyler Rubber Co., Railroad Ave., protective roof over compactor,

W. Parish Holds To Second

The West Parish intermediate basketball team again started slowly, but came on strong over the final three quarters to trounce the Lawrence Jewish Community Center club, 34-3, in J.C.C. Biddy Basketball League play this week.

The victory boosted West Parish's record to 6-2, and kept it firmly entrenched in second place behind the undefeated, league leading Bruce School quintet (9-0).

West Parish led by a slim 2-1 margin after one period, but lifted the advantage to a comfortable 12-1 at halftime before exploding for a 22-2 scoring spread in the second half.

Five players hit the point column in the well-balanced West attack.

Dave Nardone was the lone player in double figures with 10 points, while Chris Doherty and Billy Hall chipped in 8 markers apiece for the victors.

Steve Doherty tossed in 6 points, and Mike McDonald completed the charge by banking in a two-pointer.

Jimmy Stamas played well defensively and had a couple of buckets called back because of 3-second violations against teammates.

Bruce Belbin contributed a number of steals for West, while Phil Harnden extended a fine two-way effort.

West Parish guns for its seventh victory this weekend, battling the St. Lawrence Hawks whom they annihilated 35-5 in their first meeting.

Knights Streaking To Tourney Berth

By Bill Lafond

The North Andover Scarlet Knights were in an important Cape Ann League match at Lynnfield Tuesday and wound up battering the Pioneers 84-42 for their 38th straight in the league, 7 on the season.

Lynnfield, losing one game this season, found themselves on the verge of their second setback when the Knights ran off to a 10-2 opening lead with Licare (4) and Peterson (4), pouring them in. It was 21-7 after one quarter and it didn't look too good for the struggling Pioneers. Neil Desautels, put some flavor into the basket for Lynnfield, but Breen, Peterson and company, just kept running, putting on a dazzling performance and upped the count to 46-21 at halftime.

Will Uttley, in his second performance since the knee injury improved, played brilliantly on defense as the second half opened and Breen had his biggest quarter coming down with seven defensive caroms as it was 62-29 N.A.H.S. in the lead when the buzzer sounded to end the 3rd frame. The Red Wrecker substitutes moved in as the last period started. Tommy Teichman (7) and Tom Enright (6) led the Wreckers as the final buzzer sounded. The Scarlet Knights are alone in front of the West division at 7-0. Sidney Peterson came up with 20 points, 13 rebounds. Andy Breen poured in 6 from the floor and 1 from the line for 13 points, but had 20 rebounds and 6 assists. Dick Licare had 12 points, 10 assists, and 6 steals, while Billy St. Cyr had 9 points, 9 rebounds.

Will Uttley

The Knights are scoring 71.3 per game for 571 points in eight contests and are holding the opposition to an average of 38.3 with 307 points. They are scoring 33 points ahead of their opposition. Lynnfield was 6-1 overall, 5-1 in the league and may qualify for the state tournament themselves while the Knights are rated number one to take the tourney. Hamilton-Wenham and Masconomet may be two other teams from the C.A.L. to qualify.

On Saturday night the Knights defeated Ipswich 65-22 in a rather one-sided contest with Sid Peterson (13) and Andy Breen (10) leading the scoring and on last Thursday the Knight hoopsters ran up a count of 91-50 at Rockport with Andy Breen (21) leading in double figures.

Knight Rebounds: Friday night is the last night game of the season at the new fieldhouse vs. the Triton "Vikings" from Byfield, a darkhorse in the league with two dazzling guards Ed Beattie and Bob McAniff. It would be a good night to attend the game and see an outstanding hoop quintet like the Scarlet Knights. . . Andy Breen is way ahead as leading scorer averaging 18 points per game and leading rebounder averaging 16.1. Dick Licare is leader in assists and steals with averages of 12 and 9 respectively. Billy St. Cyr, Brian Smith and Sid Peterson keep up the scoring spree all averaging around 12. . . Will Uttley will be starting soon and with him in the attack, it makes it even more tough for the opposition to slow this team down. Uttley is capable of averaging around 15-20 points per game and 10 steals as a guard. . . The Scarlet Knights present hoop team is one of the greatest ever, not just in North Andover but in the Greater Lawrence area with a running attack, much like successful colleges. . . The Knights travel to West Newbury on Tuesday to play Pentucket Regional and off to Amesbury on Friday night, on Tuesday, Jan. 22, these hoopsters will travel to Hamilton - Wenham for the biggest game of the year as they put their streak on the line vs. the Generals. . . See you next week.

BIRTHDAY OBSERVANCE. Aiding in the observance of any birthday is a cake and the ceremonial extinguishing of the candles as Kathleen McGovern and Mary Dolan are doing here at the party held for St. Robert's Country Day school last week.

School Observes Birthday

On Friday, Jan. 4, the pupils at St. Robert's Country Day School in West Andover had a "special day" - their school had a Birthday Party because it was four years old. All the children in the school's three programs - the Mini-Nursery, the regular K1 Nursery and the K2 Kindergarten attended with their parents as guests. Some younger brothers and sisters came too.

Rev. Jon Martin, assistant pastor of St. Robert's Church welcomed the children and their guests and led them in singing a few songs. Then the children each blew up a colored balloon (with the help of their parents) and wrote their name on it then put it in a box which was placed on the altar as a "birthday gift" for the school.

The huge birthday cake on the altar had four candles which were lighted by the four teachers at St. Robert's: Mrs. Werner Anderson, Mrs. Francis Byrne, Mrs. Paul Convey and Mrs. Martin Dispensa. The large Christmas candle was lit by the school director, Mrs. Harold O. Keegan. The children sang "Happy Birthday" and when the candles were blown out, it was by a representative of each group: Kathleen MacGovern for the Mini-Nursery group; Mary Dolan for the K1 group; and Jeff J. Wynn and Melissa Glencross for the K2 groups.

Birthday cake and coffee were served to the parents by the children, then all watched some movies to "round off the party morning."

Registration dates for the 1974-75 school years will be announced by the Parents' Board in early February. For further information, contact the school registrar, Mrs. Richard Dunlay of Tewksbury.

Participating in the program were: Joseph Danahy, James Davis, Mary Dolan, Elizabeth Donnigan, Samuel D'Urso, Yoko Fukuda, Robert Gagnon, Richard Gervais, John Grace, Amy Guerrero, Nicholas Guzley, Ann McNamee, Joseph Massaro, Steven Mitchell, Matthew Sanborn, Christopher Sappupo, Rajif Sheel, Monica Sullivan, Elizabeth Zumamoto, Elizabeth Berube, Steven Burke, Timothy Budrewicz, Christine DeMoulas, Robert Dunlay, Melissa Glencross, Karen Grace, Joseph Guerrero, Yvonne Guzley, Walter Johnson, Michael Kelleher, Leah MacPherson, Patricia Merrill, Jeffrey Sands, Joanne Sheehan, William Ward, Ann M. Three Teams Still Undefeated

By Rick Harrison
St. Robert's B, St. Robert's C and St. Augustine B kept their perfect records intact this week by registering victories in Andover Church Basketball League Intermediate Division play at the East Junior High.

West Parish A and West Parish B also swept to wins, remaining just a game behind the tri-leaders in the tight early-season standings.

Bitter Struggle
In the most hotly-contested game of the night, St. Robert's B (3-0) came from behind over the final two quarters to defeat St. Robert's A, 14-5.

The A quintet had forged a slim 5-4 lead at intermission, but the B team rallied to hold a 10-0 point edge in the second half.

Richie Marciano led the victors' attack with 6 points. Single baskets were netted by John Ambioan, Mike Chase, Jeff Nicastro and Vinnie Keegan.

Scott Praetz did all the scoring damage for the A squad, pumping through 5 points although he was sidelined twice for brief periods with shoulder and mouth injuries during the action.

Dan Bradley, Ben Bram and Alex Lanio also played well for the losers, now 1-2 overall.

McNamara Stars
John McNamara poured in 13 points, including seven in the third quarter, sparking St. Robert's C (3-0) to an easy 26-10 conquest of St. Augustine C.

The winners raced to an 11-0 halftime lead, and had matters safely in hand before St. Augustine went on an 8-2 fourth period point binge.

Carmen Frederico supported McNamara's effort with 9 points, while solo buckets were arched through by Jamie Lebowitz and Todd Zimmerman.

Lanky Mark Bedell flipped in 8 points and Bob Oelwang canned a 15-foot set shot for St. Augustine C. Other standouts included Joe Torrisi, Billy Caselden, Jay DiIorio and Ernie Costello.

Free Shackled
St. Augustine B boosted its ledger to 2-0 with a lopsided 22-2 triumph over Free Church.

John Walsh did the bulk of the damage with 10 points for St.

Augustine. Bill Hart notched 6 points, Tom Walsh collected 4 markers and Paul Sirois hooped a shot in the opening stanza.

The winners held 8-0, 14-0 and 18-0 leads at the first three checkpoints, and other stalwarts included Charlie Heseltine and Peter Walsh.

Steve Smith delivered the lone bucket for Free, but adding fine floor games in a losing cause were Doug Kirkland, Mike King and Doug Awley.

West A Rebounds
West Parish A, three-time defending champs and winners of five titles in the past six years, bounced back from an upset loss two weeks ago to trample Baptist, 40-7.

The victory was the 26th in the last 27 league games for West A, whose complete record over the past seven seasons in all competition is 119-10.

Bill Hall found the range for 22 points to power West A. Jeff Rosen also cracked double digits with 10 points, while Pete Newton fired through 6 markers and Mike McDonald had one basket.

Rosen and Newton also contributed fine defensive games at guard, while Phil Harnden and Paul Newton added steady efforts.

Bob Fitzgerald roamed the key area and dumped in 5 points for Baptist, while Steve Rathbun swished a brace of charity tosses in the fourth quarter.

Other Baptist leaders were Bob Dufault, Tom Stedman and Jimmy Rathbun.

Morin, Moriarty
Steve Morin and Steve Moriarty poured in 8 points apiece, guiding St. Augustine D to an 18-6 victory over South B.

Will Dufresne stuffed a first period basket to complete the victors' offense, while Kane Grecoe did a fine defensive job for St. Augustine D.

Bob Kilgo was the big noise for South B with a 4-point night, and John Sagaser hooped 2 points in the first period. Rich Caughey and Bob Finlayson also played well in a losing cause.

West B Prevails

West Parish B was forced to take its victory the easy way, via the forfeit route as the South A team was unable to floor five players within the specified "grace period."

The two clubs engaged in a spirited and tightly-fought scrimmage game nonetheless, and leading the way for West B were Jody Yameen, Bruce Belbin, Chris Doherty, Jay McLeod and Steve Doherty.

League action resumes next week with a full six-game slate, and the key clash will match St. Robert's C against St. Robert's B in a battle of the undefeated.

At long last there is some snow in the Andover area.

Although we haven't had a big storm yet, some of the local ski areas have been busily making snow. Some of the kids had their first chance to try out their new ski equipment this past weekend. The man-made snow wasn't enough to allow the first scheduled BWL meet at the Highlands. This race originally scheduled for Saturday, Jan. 5 has been rescheduled for Saturday, Jan. 19.

Last Monday evening the BWL meeting was held at the West

Junior High School from 7 to 8 p.m. Ed Hostetter, president of the Andover League, conducted the meeting. Ed announced the teams for the coming races over this weekend. On Saturday, Jan. 12, the Andover West Team travels to Nashoba Valley to ski against Sudbury Red, while on Sunday, Jan. 13, the Andover East Team travels to Groton Ski Area to race against Concord and Sudbury Blue.

Coach Jim Reid was the main speaker for the meeting, with his slide presentation on the fundamentals of ski racing. Congratulations are in order for Coach Reid. Jim became the first and only non-professional ski instructor to be certified as an Official ESA Free-Style Judge.

Last night, Wednesday, the Andover Teams had their practice at the Bradford Ski Area under the direction of the Head Coach Ted Sutton. The Andover team practices on Wednesday evenings from 6 p.m. until 7 p.m. Skiing is available under the lights from 7 p.m. until 10 p.m. for those children who would like additional skiing after the practice sessions. Coach Sutton wants all the racers to make every effort to attend these practice sessions. Following last night's practice, Coach Sutton held a clinic for his coaching staff.

Following this weekend, Andover racers will see action on Saturday, Jan. 19 at the EMAS BWL Invitational at the Highland Ski Area in New Hampshire. Sunday, Jan. 20, the Andover East team will host the Sudbury Red team at the Nashoba Ski Area. Every racer should report to their races no later than 8:15 a.m., sign-in, receive their bib number, and be ready to check the course with their coach, as races start promptly at 9 a.m.

Our next meeting will be Monday, Jan. 19, at the West Junior High School from 7 p.m. to 8 p.m. Remember to check your bindings carefully; sharpen your edges; and most of all, Think Snow! See you at the race.

Winter Program Begins Monday

The Andover Recreation Community Schools Department 1974 Winter Program will begin Monday, Jan. 14, unless otherwise indicated in the Program Booklet. The department will continue to accept registrations either in person or by mail at the Recreation / Community Schools Department, 36 Bartlett St. The department suggests that anyone interested in taking a course, but who has not yet registered, do so immediately to avoid either being closed out of a full class or finding the course cancelled due to limited enrollment.

St. Robert's, West A Undefeated

By Rick Harrison
The ranks of the undefeated in the Senior Division of the Andover Church Basketball League shrank to just two last week, with only St. Robert's A and West Parish A surviving to lift their records to 3-0.

Two-time defending champ St. Augustine A and the Bible Chapel both suffered their first defeats during a full four-game card.

Co-leader St. Robert's A stampeded West Parish B by a 39-14 count. The winners led 7-0 after one quarter, 25-2 at the half and 33-4 after three periods.

John Weitz led the well-balanced St. Robert's offense with 12 points, followed by Tewksbury's T.J. Caveney with 7 points and Bill Ashe with 6 markers.

John Carroll and John Kleschinsky flipped through 4 points each, and rounding out the eight-player scoring attack with deuces were lefty Chris Fortune, Al Santos and Tony Bradley.

Mike Carroll and Joe Koravos also played well for the victors.

The West B quintet was led again by Jeff Smith who tossed in 6 points. Ed Goodman stuffed 4 points, and single buckets were notched by Tim Sweeney and Mark Paro.

West A Wins

West Parish A kept pace by capturing its third straight, a 36-

21 conquest of previously-unbeaten Bible Chapel.

The winners led 11-5 after one period, 22-10 at intermission, and they then escaped on an 8-0 binge in the third quarter for an insurmountable 30-10 advantage.

Bob Zwicker was the lone player in double figures with 10 points for West A. The supporting cast was headed by Steve Serley who canned 8 points and Mark Ketzler with 5 markers.

Eric Sullivan and Paul MacGowan gunned in 4 points apiece, while Dave Heidt netted 3 points and Chris Elliott had one basket.

For the Bible Chapel, Bernie Fallon dumped in 8 points during the first half. Tim Dewhurst contributed 6 points, Don Lydick had 5 and Bruce Lenes dunked 2 points in the final quarter.

Terrior, Collins Star

Joe Terrior and Rick Collins poured in 22 points apiece to propel St. Robert's B past St. Augustine A, 62-34.

Both players scored 6 points as St. Robert's grabbed a 13-9 first quarter lead, and the pair added 4 each as the spread went to 28-15 at halftime.

Collins had 8 more to help make it 44-28 after three stanzas, and Terrior threw in 10 points in the fourth to settle matters.

Big Bob Moynihan dunked 7 points, while Frank Griggs and Owen Keegan pocketed 4 apiece and Mark LaLonde had 2 points for St. Robert's B.

Steve Morin reached twin digits for St. Augustine A with 10 points. Tom Curtin added 8 markers, Bob Kramer 7, Jim Arnold 5 and Carney had 4 points.

Hajj Nets 14

St. Augustine B cracked the victory column with a 32-17 romp over Free Church. The victors grabbed a 12-0 lead after one stanza and coasted home from there.

Dave Hajj found the range for 14 points, and Shawn Reming arched in 8 markers to lead the charge.

Mike Brennan and Tim Paris swished 4 points each, but it was Will Bartley's last-period bucket that completed the St. Augustine effort. Tom Busta contributed a fine floor game for the victors.

Lamont Rodgers hooped 9 points for Free, including 7 in the second period. Dennis Monroe canned 6 points and Mark Budd had a basket in the second session.

John Carver and Zack Simone were other standouts for Free.

The division resumed play last night, after TOWNSMAN presstime.

Bantams Suffer First Loss

The Andover Bantam hockey team suffered its first defeat of the season Tuesday night as it was edged 3-2 by the Billerica Bantams in a game played before a large crowd at Merrimack College.

The strong Billerica team jumped off to an early lead, scoring all three of its goals in the first period, and then managed to hold off the Andover attack for the victory.

The first two Billerica goals were scored just 12 seconds apart, shortly after the four minute mark, as they took advantage of Andover defensive lapses.

At 9:27 Andover got on the scoreboard, as Bob Daly poked home the puck from a goalmouth scramble while Andover was enjoying a man advantage situation. Chuck Redman and John Lyons assisted on the score. It was Daly's fifth goal of the season.

Before the end of the period (10:55) Billerica was able to score once again on a goal from a sharp angle to make the score 3-1.

After a scoreless second period, Andover began pressing the attack and at 4:18 of the third period Daly and defenseman Paul Derby combined on a 2-on-1 break. After an exchange of passes, Derby fired home a 10-foot drive for his first goal of the year.

In spite of an all-out attack Andover was unable to get the equalizer, ending up on the short end of a 3-2 score.

The record of the local sextet is now 3-1.

Adams Fund Surpasses '73 Goal

Gratifying news of the Dora Adams Fund comes from Andover Citizens for Equal Opportunity, which organized the drive for the ninth year.

Andover townspeople have contributed more than the $1,300 AC/EO sought to meet the essential annual expenses of Mrs. Adams, an elderly black community worker who operates the Self Help Center in Clay County, Miss.

The ninth Dora Adams Fund Drive brought in $1,655.90, according to its organizer, Mrs. Susan Lloyd, 1 Highland Wayside. Mrs. Lloyd says it is most fortunate the drive went over the top, as rising costs forced a revision of Mrs. Adams annual expenses to $1,400 and AC/EO had borrowed $200 from its own revolving fund, an act of faith in Andover's response to the drive, to augment funds sent to Clay County last year.

Mrs. Lloyd said there would be enough extra money this year for Dora and her helpers to buy a needed second-hand typewriter they have had their eye on for some time, also to provide minimal pay for a month's work in the community by Dora's son Joe, who just graduated from Tougaloo College.

Dora Adams is an elderly woman of great piety and faith, who had the courage to work for voter registration in the early sixties, a non-violent woman working against strong community opposition and threats. She organized cooperatives in the community to encourage the poor and the black of Clay County to work toward earning decent livelihoods and self-respect.

Recently she has concentrated especially on caring for aged and sick scattered around the county, making sure they get enough food, helping them to get medical care to which they are entitled.

For the last several years, funds from the town of Andover, through the Andover Citizens for Equal Opportunity, have been her only steady means of support, allowing her to continue her version of the Lord's work.

More good news is that Dora has now begun to receive social security payments since the death of her husband who deserted the family years ago.

Recyclable Material Can Be Covered

The Andover Recycling committee advises residents that should winter storms prevent the placing of material to be collected, save the items for the next pickup day for the particular material.

Also, residents may put out recyclables if they are winterized by covering the paper bags with plastic sheeting.

Remember the red bag pickup and the recyclable pickup are separate. The trucks have different schedules and do not follow each other. It is wise to have recyclable items out by 7 a.m.

Metal collection includes not only cans, but TV dinner trays, cake and pie tins and aluminum foil.

Blue Birds Plan Year

The Fire Fly Blue Birds from South School recently held their first meeting of the new year at the home of their leader, Mrs. Donald Eisenhower.

Activities for the remainder of the year were discussed. The following were elected officers: Ginger Christie, president; Heather Taylor, vice president; Nancy Brown, flag girl; Paula Eldred, roll call; Barbara Ward, dues collector and Elizabeth Katz, supplies.

Holiday Program By South Pupils

day program for their fellow students and parents. Under the direction of Miss Susan Wepfers, music specialist, the play was entitled "Santa Rides A Jumbo Jet." Gergory Gardner, a student at East Junior High school, returned to his former school to play the part of Santa Claus.

For Those Of Us Who Are Older

Those lucky Andover seniors who are travelling to Bermuda, Jan. 16, are reminded that there will be a bus from The Haven to transport them to Logan Airport. It will leave The Haven at 7:30 that morning. For further details, call The Haven.

The first mini-clinic held at The Haven went off smoothly Monday, Jan. 7. The next clinic will be held Jan. 21 at Chestnut Court. Feb. 4 is the date for the next clinic at The Haven. Appointments are still available for the Feb. 4 session. Patients are seen by appointment only. Call The Haven for further information.

Thursday, Jan. 17, is the date of the regular monthly meeting of The Haven Associates, at two o'clock at The Haven. The Memorial Hall Library will supply interesting films for the meeting and light refreshments will be served. Reservations are NOT required. Just come!

Through the generosity of a townsman, The Haven is now the proud possessor of a new pool table. All cue-buffs are invited to stop by a shoot a few!

Winter Beach Walk

Life in the seas goes on all through the year and the beach in winter reveals many patterns and organisms that are not evident in the warmer months. Massachusetts Audubon Society's Ipswich River Wildlife Sanctuary is planning a walk to explore the winter shoreline along Lynn Beach on Sunday, Jan. 20 at 2 p.m. Sarah Fraser Robbins, Director of Education at the Peabody Museum and co-author of the new book The Sea Is All Around Us, will lead the walk. The group will meet at the MDC parking lot off Lynn Blvd. beyond the traffic circle, weather permitting.

Prior registration is not necessary and there is no fee for this walk, but participants are advised to dress warmly and check with the Sanctuary office if there are any questions. In the event of bad weather, the walk will be cancelled.

There is something special for older children that week too. Children in grades K-6 are invited to learn about life on a desert (imagine that!) as we look at the way a family of American Indians - the Hopi Indians of the Southwest - lives. The program includes a film and some Hopi folktales and games. This is part of our Family of Man Series and promises to be as much fun as the other programs about African, Japanese and Israeli families have been. Be there, at the Children's Room, on Saturday, Jan. 19 at 2:30 if you don't want to miss any of it. Bring your friends!

VIBOR needs you! VIBOR is the Very Important Board of Review - a club of kids in grades 4-6 that meets once a week to read and review new books.

Following an abbreviated worship service conducted by the Rev. Richard Woodman of the Unitarian - Universalist Church at 244 Lowell St. in Andover, Sunday, parents and interested members of the congregation will be invited to visit church school classes.

Adults will be encouraged to chat with students and pupils in the classroom settings where a stimulating and enriching term of youth education is nearing completion. The new term for youth education at the church will begin in February, with curriculum and teacher orientation being organized under the direction of the church's Religious Education Director, Mrs. Carolyn Buss. Classes range from nursery to high school level.

For those in attendance who wish to participate in the traditional "talk-back" and coffee following the worship service, a cordial welcome is extended.

Baptized At Family Gathering

Three children were baptized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce S. Dodd, South Main St., Andover, Saturday, Dec. 29, in the presence of family gathered from Pennsylvania, Connecticut, New York and Massachusetts.

Mrs. Dodd's uncle, the Very Reverend Frederick M. Brooks, Jr., dean of Schuykill, assistant to the Bishop of Pennsylvania and Rector of the Church of the Savior, Philadelphia, Pa., baptized two of his grandchildren, Nathaniel Phillip Brooks, son of Dr. and Mrs. Benjamin R. Brooks, Kristin Anna Chimes, daughter of James and Constance Brooks Chimes of Philadelphia. Also baptized was Heather Jill Johnston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jeffrey Johnston of Nahant.

The Very Rev. Frederick M. Brooks is the brother of Mrs. Louise Brooks Van Eversen of School St., Andover, and the father of Sarah Bruce Brooks of High St., Andover.

Used in the baptismal service was the silver bowl used to baptize Mrs. Dodd by her grandfather, Rev. Frederick M. Brooks.

To Explain Meaning Of Chapter 766

Next September all Learning disabled children in Massachusetts public schools will have new rights under provisions of a new state law, Chapter 766. Under the new law all children have a right to "equal" education regardless of their physical, emotional or educational handicaps. Children who have trouble with listening, thinking, walking, reading, writing, spelling or arithmetic may come under the assistance of Chapter 766.

The Merrimack Valley Association for Children with Learning Disabilities has scheduled a discussion of the new law at the Monday, 8 p.m., Jan. 14 meeting at which the speaker will be Representative Michael Daly, co-sponsor of the new law with House Speaker David Bartley. All regular meetings are held at the Ballard Vale United Church, Clark Road, at Hall Avenue, Andover. Mr. Daly's talk will be about "The meaning of Chapter 766 to parents, teachers and school administrators."

According to MVACLD president, Tom Kelly, Jr. Chapter 766 doesn't guarantee that any child will automatically get "equal" education. It simply grants him that right and it is squarely up to parents, as well as teachers and school administrators, to get the job done. One of the main provisions of the law is that it prohibits isolating L.D. students in special classes out of the educational mainstream. Rather it provides that regular classroom teachers must know how to handle L.D. problems and how to call for extra help when needed. Obviously Chapter 766 directs school boards and school superintendents into new standards of performance and equal education into the realm of possibility. Beyond that it gives parents mandated power to get the job done if in their opinion such is not the case.

All MVACLD meetings are open to the public, without charge. There is always an opportunity to ask questions from the floor and to meet parents and teachers over coffee and refreshments. Association Board members are on hand to help individual parents find the help they need.

Christian Women's Club Meets Jan. 15

The Merrimack Valley Christian Women's Club will hold their monthly Coffee on Tuesday, Jan. 15 from 10 to 12 noon at the Andover Country Club, Canterbury Street, Andover.

The special feature this month will be combined with special music as a Sing-A-Long under the direction of Mrs. Lucy Lancaster with Mrs. Jan Richmond at the piano.

Dr. David Reid, a research scientist in Glass Technology, will be the speaker. A graduate of Rutgers University, Dr. Reid has recently moved to North Reading with his wife and three children.

A free nursery is provided each month. For reservations or further information contact Mrs. Ralph Brouck, 18 Court Street, Methuen; Mrs. Ed Benson, 16 Jonathan Lane, Chelmsford; or Mrs. Donald Dewhurst, 12 Renne Drive, Andover by Friday.

New Hours

Solutions to problems are oft times creators of others. Such might be the case of meeting the energy crisis through the switch to daylight saving time this past week.

After a few days of operation under the new time schedule, school officials are cautiously assessing the situation as some youngsters proceed to classes in the darkness in the morning.

Complaints have been few after the first couple of days, as parents seem to have adjusted to the new schedule and taken necessary precautions with youngsters who will, for the next few weeks be going to classes in the early morning darkness.

The change is going to require parents to assume some responsibility in seeing to it that their children are protected and aware of the necessary safety measures caused by the change in time.

While changing the school day to a later opening hour in the morning has been contemplated, it does not appear to be the answer to the problem at this time.

To change the schedule compounds the problem.

In many cases working parents would be involved in a schedule change which might not conform to the work hours at their places of employment.

In many cases school bus drivers perform this service as a second job, thus their schedule at this time of year is not flexible enough to accommodate a time change.

Contractual problems could also be encountered in both the professional and non-professional staffs of the school systems.

Concern for safety encompasses all age groups, but in particular those of elementary level.

Secondary students seem to be of an age where they should be able to care for themselves quite well.

For the most part they are out at night and are used to darkness conditions.

Often they fail to use sidewalks provided for their safety.

The younger ones, in the elementary grades often display more attention to safety regulations than those at the secondary level, but still need attention.

So, as school and safety officials assess the situation, it behooves parents to exercise the extra caution needed to insure their children get to the school bus stop or to school safely during these few weeks which the darkened mornings will involve. It does not seem unreasonable to assume that parents will accept that responsibility.

Forums

Suggestion by Supt. of Schools Dr. Kenneth R. Seifert that forums be conducted to clear the air on educational issues prior to election seems a good one.

In the past few years, Andover school committee campaigns have been active ones and often productive of ill-feeling among the townspeople.

Not too many years ago an Andover school board campaign might result in the winner having a divergent view from the majority of the other committee members. As the months moved along, however, the minority and majority view points moved in a more harmonious manner toward accomplishment, than has been the case in recent years.

In producing a forum to dispel rumors, there would be a vehicle for putting forth factual information for the electorate to digest, provided it is done in a proper manner.

Andover's school system will probably remain in a state of controversy as long as there is the element of change, or the move from traditional to modern or open classrooms.

There will remain a conservative and liberal element observing the school system.

Thus, while an open forum to air the issues is both laudatory and advisable, it must be borne in mind that Andover's strongest campaign efforts will still remain in the coffee klatches and endless telephone calls that immediately precede election day.

Breathing

A group of young people are giving impetus to a program aimed at overall health improvement during the next week.

The Andover High school youngsters will be conducting "Project Breath" beginning Saturday and continuing through the week.

Their aim is to assist adults and people in their own age group to kick the smoking habit.

Most of us, as we sit in a cloud of cigarette smoke viewing their campaign, have knowledge of the fact that they are right in their effort.

The message has been preached for years. It has been debated for years whether smoking is harmful, and it is generally considered to be a deterrent, whether it effects heart, lungs, or whatever.

Through legislative order, cigarette manufacturers print warnings on packages that smoking is dangerous to your health.

But still the practice, or habit continues unabated.

Now, come some rather concerned and serious young people expressing a feeling for the matter.

Timothy Driscoll and Mark Hamilton and their committee of high school students are telling their fellow students for one, and more particularly their parents and adults of the community that they care.

Their concern has been put into the form of action in building a week-long program to get the message across to the community. It is commanding the attention of those outside the Andover community as well.

In times when it seems easier to select young people for faults and problems, it is refreshing to pause and commend the "Project Breath" committee for their effort and express appreciation for their concern for the health of the community.

Off The Top Of The Desk

Some might have thought reflections from Kahoutek were appearing on the surface at Stevens Pond Sunday night, but it was just some skaters enjoying a late evening glide over the ice.

The pond has an apparently good surface from the activity witnessed early this week.

Stevens will be the scene of the annual winter carnival being conducted by the North Andover Jaycees.

Held on Lake Cochichewick a year ago, state authorities frowned on the use of the public drinking supply, thus the change in location for this year.

The energy crisis plays no favorites.

A Federal Aviation Administration investigator assigned to probe a plane crash in Pennsylvania this past week was stuck some distance from the scene until after midnight on Sunday due to all gas stations being closed.

So, at 1 a.m., he filled the car gas tank and proceeded to his destination.

While snow has been absent to a great degree this winter, what little has fallen has provided for some typical New England winter scenes.

Common is the white stuff surrounding open brooks, in woodlands.

For such scenery, one needs only to travel over such as High street in Andover, and not necessarily going to the "country" sections of the community.

A flashlight is proving to be a valuable item these days.

A bit previously we mentioned its use in aiding night skating.

We have also learned that a flashlight is becoming an item to take to school in the morning.

With the early morning darkness, many parents have provided their youngsters with flashlights to guide them safely along the paths to school bus stops or to their educational destination.

The dimness and quiet of the Christmas season just past, was apparently the same throughout the nation.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Caswell of Dumbarton street in Andover have just returned from California after a visit with their son, his wife and grandchildren.

They report activity about the same as in the east, quiet and very few Christmas lights.

The grandparents are quick to report, however, that the enthusiasm of youth remained prevalent despite all, from observing the activities of their grandchildren.

The past week marked the only Sunday in the entire year when not a professional sports team was in action in Boston.

More than likely resting for Super Bowl Sunday, which may turn out to be another blah affair, but at least it will put football in the background for a few weeks.

For women college graduates still on the big search for that meaningful entry-level job, Katharine Gibbs has a special eight-week program that can help lead them directly to it. This winter Gibbs offers its crash program ENTREE just for college graduates whose degrees haven't yet opened the way to jobs, utilizing their background knowledge.

Down the Years with The Townsman

75 Years Ago - January, 1899

Sneak thieves entered the house of James Smith on High Street Tuesday and got away with $30, of which $20 belonged to Mrs. Smith. Since no windows or doors were broken, it appears that a key left under the door mat may have been used to gain entrance.

Coach Stearns of the Academy has called out baseball candidates this week. Only the batterymen will be working in the gymnasium from now through mid-February after which the other candidates will report.

Superintendent Smith of the water works would feel grateful to those patrons who think there is an overcharge on their water bills, if they would call at the office so that he may explain the matter to them.

At the annual meeting of Christ church held Sunday, Horace H. Tyler was elected senior warden, H.S. Leach, junior warden; T.D. Thomson, clerk; W.H. Terrell, W.M. Wood, Dr. J.R. Fuller, J. Tyler Kimball, and Ezra Abbott, vestrymen.

Goal Shortage Plagues Warriors of goals that is costing it valuable points in the Merrimack Valley Hockey League.

The AHS pucksters netted only three goals in two games last week at the Billerica Forum, bowing to Wilmington 4-2 and second-place Tewksbury, 5-1.

The double defeat left the Golden Warriors with a 1-6-0 league ledger and 1-6-1 overall mark.

The lack of scoring punch is shown by the fact that Andover has collected only 16 goals in eight games, an average of 2.0 per contest which places an awful burden on the goal tending and defense.

The Warriors tried to rectify the situation yesterday against Chelmsford, while Saturday afternoon at the Forum they face Lawrence Central (a 6-0 loser to Andover in their first encounter).

Hubbell Scores Two
Wilmington built up a solid 4-0 lead midway through the third period, and then held on as AHS Capt. Ken Hubbell registered a pair of goals in the late going.

Wildcats' first-line center Dan Burns, a sophomore, began Andover's downfall a mere 39 seconds into the game by scoring on his team's first shot on net.

John Harrison gave him the set-up feed, and Burns fired a 20-foot slapshot past screened-out goalie Chris Cullinan to the far side.

The game stayed 1-0 until there were 14 seconds remaining in the second period. At this time Harrison notched a shorthanded goal, flipping home a rebound that Cullinan gloved and then dropped.

Harrison and Dana Mullarky found the range at 0:24 and 5:05 of the third stanza, lifting Wilmington's lead to a comfortable 4-0.

The teams were skating 4-on-4 when Hubbell spoiled the shutout with his fourth seasonal goal. Linemate Steve Hillmann fed the senior center near the crease, and Ken punched the puck past goalie Dean Devlin.

Things got a bit hotter for Wilmington when Hubbell's fifth redlighter cut the deficit to 4-2 with four minutes to play.

This time Hubbell tipped home a slapshot from the right point by defenseman Jim Watson.

Wilmington's Gordie Fitch picked up a major penalty for charging AHS Capt. Bob Driscoll a short time later, but the Wildcats held Andover at bay while skating shorthanded for three minutes.

The victors outshot Andover in each period, finishing with a 22-15 overall edge. Cullinan steered aside 18 shots and Devlin made 13 saves.

Tewksbury Tough
Tewksbury, a slim 3-2 winner over the Golden Warriors in their season-opening encounter, found the going somewhat easier this time although Andover skated about as well as it has all season.

Coach John Corbett's Redmen (6-1-0) opened the scoring at 3:46 of the first period, as left winger Ed Hill snapped a 5-foot wrister behind Cullinan to the goalie's stick side.

John Hagerty doubled the advantage to 2-0 at 7:21, skating across the slot to jam the disc into the AHS cage.

The lone Warriors' lamplighter came exactly two minutes later (9:21), when junior Harry Collins pocketed his first varsity goal.

Linemate Tim Tanner and Collins traded three crisp passes while breaking into the Tewksbury zone, and Collins converted by zinging a crisp 10-foot backhand over goalie Mike Hughes' glove.

It was one of the rare times Hughes gets beaten, as the Tewksbury senior heads all MVHL goalies with a 1.71 goals against average.

Redmen center Steve Dunlevy gave the winners some insurance at 9:09 of the second frame, dumping home a rebound during a goalmouth scramble for a 3-1 Tewksbury cushion.

Hagerty and Dunlevy both added their second goals of the afternoon in the third canto, closing the scoring with a late-game flourish.

AHS Dominates
Andover was clearly the dominant team in the second period, hustling to hold a territorial edge and 8-2 shooting advantage over those 12 minutes.

For the entire game, however, Tewksbury managed a 20-17 shooting spread. Hughes and Cullinan both made 15 saves while Ray Hazel, who worked the final 2:42 in the Redmen net, turned back one shot.

Crossan Check
Sophomore defenseman Dale Crossan came up with one of Andover's hardest checks of the season, catching Hagerty in front of the Warriors' bench and depositing the big winger into the laps of several AHS players sitting in the front row.

Notes
An alumni game was held recently at the Phillips-Andover Academy rink, and the alumni won either 8-6, 7-4, 7-5 or 9-7 depending on which participant you talk to.

Among the alumni coming back to play were Scott Seero, Bob Farnham, goalie Dave Hubbell, assistant Coach Mike Bruno, John Christopher, Mike Murnane and Ed Flannery.

Also skating wing for the winners was former Coach Charlie Vars, who guided Andover through several winning seasons and also made history of sorts by leading the team on a two-week exhibition tour of Russia.

Andover defenseman Bob Messersmith, sidelined with a leg injury earlier this season, got rid of his crutches and then suffered a concussion in a fall at his home. He'll be out indefinitely.

Education Facing Economic Crunch

THE TOWNSMAN, JANUARY 10, 1974

By Helen M. Eccles
"The first three months of coeducation at Phillips Academy have gone much more easily than expected, - - I expected much more flak," Headmaster Theodore R. Sizer told the TOWNSMAN, looking back from the vantage point of the New Year.

Sizer also is pleased with the beginnings of a new exchange of educational services arranged between Andover High School and PA, and with Complementary School Project plans for several short-term intensive residential institutes on the Phillips campus in '74-'75 for public school students.

But the head of the nation's largest single residential boarding school is frankly worried about what's happening to the U.S. economy, to the American family's spending power, and especially to the public services which he says already are underfunded and now face hard times with soaring operational costs.

The PA headmaster was for ten years dean of Harvard's Graduate School of Education, graduate training ground for scores of the nation's top public school superintendents, and he is apt to talk in public service terms. He explained his concerns in a TOWNSMAN interview, shortly before students resumed their studies Tuesday.

"Public service institutions, both those provided by the public sector and by the private sector, already are underfunded - - education, mass transit, city planning, public health and others. Now they are heading into a situation which will be economically much more difficult than before.

"Hospitals, universities, colleges, both independent and public schools all are facing the same problem. Ken Seifert has the same problem we do at Phillips, of unavoidably and suddenly spiralling costs attached to the public services it's our job to provide. The rising costs of food, fuel and forest products alone have a serious effect on our budget. How do you project ahead the real cost of fuel, which have almost quadrupled for us in the last six months? What do you do about the costs? Pass them all right along to the Consumer?"

There is a problem here, says Sizer:

"The real spending power of the American people is dropping significantly for the first time in 25 years. The disposable income of American families is dropping more rapidly than most people are aware. It may not be good PR to say this, but it now costs more money to provide an education for people who generally are less able to pay for it."

Financial encouragement in the bleak economic picture has come to Phillips in the form of alumni support and two massive alumni bequests from the nearly coincident deaths of two old benefactors of the school. PA's endowment fund will receive approximately $800,000 from a trust established by Raymond White, '18, and approximately $5 million from a trust established by John W. Watzek, Jr., '10.

"It is reassuring, when looking down the barrel of an uncertain economic future, which is certain to be difficult, to have this kind of support from people who believe in what we are trying to do," Sizer told the TOWNSMAN.

A local benefactor was Burton S. Flagg, treasurer of Abbot, 1905-64 who died just short of his 100th birthday, leaving a bequest to Abbot Academy. This bequest, and all bequests to Abbot, including a recent $60,000 bequest by Lulu C. McDuffie, '08, become part of the endowment of the coeducational Phillips Academy, according to a recent court decree.

"The legal, financial and accounting problems of the Abbot combination into Phillips Academy have been a much longer and harder task than I anticipated," Sizer remarked, "while the human factors of becoming coed and temporarily enlarged, and of girls and teachers leaving Abbot Academy to become part of Phillips Academy have gone much more easily than we anticipated. This fall we had quite an influx of new people on the faculty, but they seem to have gotten themselves together much more easily than we expected."

"As for the girls, they seem to have decided that this is a new school, and it's their school and they're going to make it a good one."

Transferring Abbot's assets to the Phillips books, on the other hand, has proven to be a monumental task, because of the necessity to research the purposes for which the monies were

A New Mission?

Sizer insists that now the mission of Phillips Academy should be reviewed, to determine the proper use of its resources in the light of a new situation - - and he doesn't mean just coeducation.

"Public high schools in the U.S. now provide mass education and very many of them provide a first-class education. This is a very recent and unique situation in U.S. history, since at the end of World War II, only 50 per cent of the 17-year-olds received high school diplomas. Today virtually all do. The mission of Phillips Academy should be reviewed in the light of this to determine the proper use of its resources."

In the Andover community, Sizer sees a modest sense of progress growing between the Andover High School and the independent coed boarding school. After meetings between department chairmen of the high school and of Phillips, an exchange of educational services has begun. PA is freeing 25 trimester openings per year at the Coeducation no longer is the big issue at Phillips Academy. That is settled and on its way, though of course problems will remain.

Analysis

Not even the energy crisis is the big issue now, so fast do things change these days. Phillips Academy evidently feels that it will be able to cope with the known and unknown practical problems of the energy crisis, through present fuel austerity measures and emergency contingency plans. There can be some exhilaration in meeting this challenge - actions to be planned and taken by the entire school community, and possible new educational benefits from meeting the adversity.

The Cost Crisis is the big issue of 1974, for Phillips Academy and for other educational institutions, overshadowing the big issues of Fall, 1973. Phillips here shares this problem with other educational institutions, public and private, elementary through graduate school, facing the same cost crunch.

The Cost Crisis, partly a child of the fuel crisis, is not exhilarating. Unlike the earlier and continuing challenges of coeducation and the energy crisis, there is not much positive action to be taken, and it brings no obvious educational benefits at all. The soaring food and fuel costs, for example, simply means it costs more to feed students no better than before, and to keep them less warm than before.

The Trustees of Phillips Academy will wrestle with ways to meet the Cost Crisis in their regular budget meeting later this month, as will trustees and committees of other institutions. The PA administration presently is working to determine the size and shape of the problem.

Prediction: it will be large and octopus like.

given by generations of Abbot alumnae and friends. Sizer intimated that a small halo was in order for Associate Treasurer William Munroe, who is supervising this painstaking task.

"Your just don't take an institution as old as Abbot, and transfer its assets from the Abbot books to the Phillips Academy books without substantial and painstaking effort. You have to look into the bequests and gifts to Abbot going back to 1829. You have to ascertain the intent of a gift of 1862, to be sure that the intent will be carried out as faithfully as possible in the combined school, from 1973 on."

Academy for Andover High School students, in courses which the high school does not offer.

In exchange, the high school is offering its technical education facilities for typing, metal working, automotive mechanics and some other courses, along with faculty supervision, for Phillips Academy students to pursue, on an activity basis.

In light of this, Sizer told the TOWNSMAN, Phillips Academy has refunded the tuition charged last fall to several Andover High students when they were permitted to take Phillips Academy courses unavailable at the high

In the area of coeducation, 31 Phillips Academy students are engaged in tutoring and assisting instruction at Andover elementary East Jr. High, roughly to the high school level. Phillips Academy has 24 students in the program in elementary and West Junior High. Lawrence elementary and five students in Ann's, where Ann's School also assists.

The headmaster of Phillips Academy is providing educational service with Andover High School as a piece of a larger puzzle - the Complementary School Project for intensive institutes built around topics, which lend to residential education.

CSP is a Sizer project on his sense that Phillips Academy has a new role in U.S. education relating to public schools (particularly Andover) in a supplementary way, competing with the native to public schools part of Sizer's view of Phillips Academy's mission.

The response to Jerry Foster's request across the country encouraging enough faculty committee to up half a dozen programs and a faculty who would like to in the 1974-75 academic school plans to run a selective CSP program.

In the area of community service, 31 Phillips students are engaged in tutoring or otherwise assisting instruction in the Andover elementary schools and East Jr. High, roughly equivalent to the high school students' educational involvement program in elementary schools and West Junior High. PA also has 24 students working in a Lawrence elementary school, and five students working at St. Ann's, where Andover High School also assists.

The headmaster describes the educational service exchange with Andover High School as a piece of a larger part of the puzzle - the Complementary School Project for intensive short-term institutes built around single topics, which lend themselves to residential education.

CSP is a Sizer proposal based on his sense that PA can serve a new role in U.S. education by relating to public and other day schools (particularly including Andover) in a supplementary, complementary way, as well as competing with them as an alternative to public school. That's part of Sizer's view of Phillips Academy's mission.

The response to CSP Director Jerry Foster's reconnaissance across the country was encouraging enough for P.A.'s faculty committee on CSP to line up half a dozen specific programs and a faculty member who would like to lead each one in the 1974-75 academic year the school plans to run several consecutive CSP programs on a trial engrossing boys and girls across the country.

"It has to do with the changing definitions of male and female in the United States. The traditional sex stereotypes - 'girls take French,' 'boys take chemistry,' 'girls are meek,' 'boys are overbearing' - are coming apart in our nation. There won't be complete and satisfactory ease between the sexes here until our society at large has accommodated this stirring-around of the issue.

"But at least it's better for boys and girls to go through the debate and discussion in this period in U.S. history, and through this adolescent period of their lives, side by side, instead of completely isolated from each other. And remember, coed or single-sex education isn't an either-or situation. A coed school can provide both single-sex and coeducational experiences. But if a school isn't coed, it doesn't have that option.

Special Education Meeting Set

State officials and advocates for special education will hold a meeting in Boxford on Monday evening, Jan. 21, to discuss the new Special Education Act and its implications for area children and school systems. The meeting, originally scheduled last month but cancelled because of bad weather, will take place at 7:30 p.m. at Masconomet Regional High School Auditorium on Endicott Road.

The "Forum on 766" is one of a series of meetings held around the state to explain the law to parents, educators, and service providers, who will have an opportunity to express to state officials their suggestions for implementing Chapter 766.

The Special Education Act, to be implemented next September, makes local schools responsible for providing special education and supportive services to all children who have special needs. Passed and signed into law in 1972, it will affect all special needs children, including those who are mentally retarded, emotionally disturbed, physically handicapped, or learning disabled.

Local schools will be responsible for providing special education to all school-age children and certain pre-school children who have special needs. Communities will be reimbursed by the Division of Special Education, which is responsible for implementing the law.

IRS Aid Available

Massachusetts taxpayers can get quick answers to their tax problems by calling the Internal Revenue Service from anywhere in the state without having to pay long distance charges, William E. Williams, District Director of Internal Revenue Service for Massachusetts has announced.

Residents of the state should call 1-800-392-6288.

This new phone service is available on a year-round basis to help taxpayers in all their dealings with the IRS.

Although help is as near as a telephone with the new system,

Williams said most taxpayers should be able to prepare their own returns by following the step-by-step instructions that come with their Form 1040 or 1040A.

No-Smoking

Lawrence radio show from noon till 2 p.m. today, featuring Dr. Muto, Driscoll and committee member Jane Allen.

But "Project Breath" will officially be launched Saturday, when the committee will saturate the town with no-smoking posters. The public is also invited to a 2 p.m. meeting at the high school, when Town officials, and doctors will speak and the smoking committee will brief those who attend on coming events such as speakers, slides, films, "picket lines" and poster displays.

Next Monday, the high school students will present "big brother" lectures at East Jr. High, while a film will be shown at the high school. Tuesday, big brother will move on to West Jr. High, while a guest speaker does his turn at the high school.

Wednesday, the campaign goes on television, with Mark Hamilton and Ginger Eaton accompanying Dr. Muto on the show "House Call" at 9 a.m.

The community can get actively involved again Wednesday night, with Parent Night from 7 to 9 p.m. at the high school. The program so far calls for a slide presentation by Dr. Muto, a lecture by Dr. Arnold Reef of Tufts University, films, a high school panel answering parents' questions, refreshments, an information table, and a display of anti-smoking posters.

Two films will be shown at the high school Thursday and "Thank you for not smoking" buttons will be passed out in school.

Next Friday, the no-smoking activists will set up a mock picket line around "The Well," a popular and legal smoking area in the school during lunch time, and pass out candy cigarettes.

The week-plus of activities will end next Saturday night, with a dance for the junior and senior high crowds in the High School Gymnasium. Proceeds will be given to the Cancer Society.

Still other events will be announced as the campaign proceeds, and smoking committees are also at work in the junior highs.

Selectmen

of information on their part that they didn't know I was taking part in the meeting of area officials.

Collins said the "two gentlemen are not anti-regionalization," but instead are "anxious to protect Andover's identity" and to work with other community's where it is advantageous to the town.

Milton Greenberg said that "nothing could be farther from the truth," that he was against regional planning and referred to his notes of past meetings to indicate his interest - particularly in the Subregional Joint Transportation Committee of the Merrimack Valley Planning Commission, and the regional meetings on solid waste disposal.

In short, he said, he was in favor of regional planning "where appropriate."

After generally indicating that they agreed regional meetings were fine as long as they were informative and required no commitment, the Board voted yes to George Heseltine's motion to allow any Selectman, or delegate appointed by the Board to attend the Legislative Caucus.

In still other action Monday night, the Selectmen agreed to look into the legalities of the Town grading and/or graveling Wall St., a private street which runs off of Beacon St. toward the country club.

A delegation of four, representing the three homes on the street, presented pictures of the washed out road and indicated that when not frozen, it is practically impassable.

Austin said there are 46 private ways in town, and in order for them to become town streets, completely subject to Town maintenance they must be brought up to minimum town standards, at the current owners' expense.

Noon Supervisors

The Andover School department is seeking noon hour supervisor applicants.

The work includes supervising youngsters during the noon hour in the lunch rooms and on the playgrounds. It involves about one and one half hours per day and pays $2.94 per day.

Interested applicants should contact Mrs. Cox at 475-6290.

Grooming Course

A grooming workshop for girls of Andover and North Andover in grades 7-9 will start at the Andover Y building Thursday, Jan. 10. Girls will explore hair styles and care, skin care, use of color and line in wardrobe planning under the direction of instructor Mrs. Dorothy Gridley. Guest speakers such as a hair stylist, clothing buyer, etc. will discuss the latest fashion trends for today's girl. Five sessions will be conducted Thursdays 7-8:30 p.m. Prior registration is required at the Andover Y office.

What Our Readers Say

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN:

It is with much interest and enthusiasm that the Shawsheen Village Woman's Club endorses "Operation Cold Turkey," the drive against smoking, that the students of Andover High School are sponsoring.

It is very commendable that Andover's Young People are engaged in this worthwhile endeavor. Their interest in the future health of people, their parents and themselves is indeed impressive.

Best wishes to the Andover High School Students for much success in all of their endeavors.

Verena Z. Pettoruto
President
Shawsheen Village Woman's Club

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN:

Congressman Paul Cronin of Andover is a co-sponsor of H.R. 10294, the Land Use Planning Act.

The bill would strike a blow at home rule by making grants to states for developing and implementing comprehensive, state-wide land-use planning programs.

State bureaucrats, in lockstep with federal bureaucrats, would control anything they designate as an "area of critical environmental concern."

Land-use plans would have to "assure that local regulations do not unreasonably restrict or exclude development and land use of regional or national benefit."

In other words, outsiders would help decide what's best for your land.

As one who believes the level of government closest to the people governs best, I hope Mr. Cronin reverses his stand on H.R. 10294.

Selectmen Seeks R

(Townsmen Staff Re

Selectman Milton Greenberg, 46 Sagamore Drive, called his first term on the board. He announced this week he would be a candidate for re-election in March.

Greenberg, in obtaining nomination papers this week, said his decision to seek re-election was based on his desire for the opportunity to continue to be of service to the community.

He said that he felt the town was to be faced in the year ahead with center around taxes and rule, two issues to which he has been attentive to during his term.

The candidate is presently with GCA Corporation, an international company headquartered in New York.
